Welcome to Yarrawonga and Mulwala. Captain Charles Sturt probably never suspected, as he trekked the dense bushland of our region in 1838, that this newly discovered area would become known as the heart of Sun Country on the Murray. Nor would he have believed that Yarrawonga-Mulwala’s climate, boasting more sunshine hours than our far northern neighbours, would become a natural magnet for holiday makers. Along with the Mediterranean climate, comes dramatically colourful sunsets that can be enjoyed from many vantage points around Lake Mulwala. One for the artists!

Lying between the twin towns of Yarrawonga and Mulwala is Lake Mulwala, a man made lake of some 6000 ha. Both sides of the lake have attractive foreshores, providing a year-round recreation area centrally located for all aquatic activities, including picnic and barbecue facilities, two giant waterslides, three swimming pools and a toddlers’ pool. When you consider that Yarrawonga-Mulwala is part of beautiful north east Victoria, it’s hard to beat. Put all this together and it adds up to a very attractive holiday destination.

The Yarrawonga Mulwala story

The Pangerang tribe were the original aboriginal inhabitants of the area, ranging from Howlong to Berrigan, and attributed with naming the two towns. Yarra means water running over rocks and Mulwala means large lagoon or big back water. The early explorers saw the region’s open and fertile grassland as exceptional sheep and cattle grazing country and so, through agriculture, the area was settled. Byroname Homestead, now classified “A” by the National Trust (to be preserved at all costs), was part of the original Yarrawonga Station and can still be visited for a fascinating insight into the area’s colonial times.

Before the railway was extended to Yarrawonga in 1886, paddle steamers plied their way as far as Albury, transporting timber, wheat and wool. Because of poor co-ordination between the Victorian and NSW Governments, construction on the bridge between Yarrawonga and Mulwala commenced independently and at different levels. A re-design was necessary to get both ends of the bridge to meet. The result was our infamous “twisty, dippy” bridge.

The Yarrawonga-Mulwala Customs House, restored to its original condition is located on the Yarrawonga side of the road bridge, next to the Visitor Information Centre. Fear not, taxes to cross the border have been abolished!

Lake Mulwala

Lake Mulwala is an unforgettable sight with its majestic and ghostly river red gums. The red gum forest remained when the lake was filled. The gums will be there for centuries, slowly falling as time goes by. The trees remain as a highly productive breeding ground for fish, attracting dedicated fishing fanatics year round in pursuit of the elusive Murray cod, Murray cray, red fin, yellow belly and trout cod (an endangered species).

They also act to prevent erosion of the lake’s floor and foreshore and they create a natural windbreak that helps to minimise erosion of the lake’s edge.

Lake Mulwala is far more than an irrigation storage. The lake is a recreational haven for water based activities, including water skiing, speed boat racing, sailing, kayaking and cruising in a pontoon boat. A cruise on Lake Mulwala will take you on a journey through the flooded red gums that now provide wonderful nesting sites for cockatoos, galahs, pelicans, ibis, eagles and a variety of other birds that call this region home.

Boat ramps are easily accessed and can be found at a number of sites around the lake. The Yarrawonga weir is the largest of the sixteen weirs on the Murray River. Fish can safely negotiate the weir via a fish lift, located on the northern side of the weir wall.

The storage created by the weir allows gravitational diversion of water through two main channels to irrigate large areas of land on the riverine plains of Victoria and New South Wales.

You may be fortunate to catch a glimpse of a playful platypus surfacing to bask in the sun on the water’s edge. The Visitor Information Centre’s balcony is a top viewing spot for this unique Australian mammal.

The towns of Cobram and Barooga are separated by the Murray River, and are now linked by a new bridge that has superseded the original one lane historic steel lift bridge that was built in 1902.

Early settlement

Cobram is a town with an unusual street layout. This can be explained by the decision made in 1886 to terminate the railway short of the government owned land that was intended for the development of the township of Cobram. The terminus was to be on private land owned by a Mr John Stewart. At the same time as this decision was made, Mr Stewart announced the sale of part of his estate for town lots. The 150 blocks were subdivided north-south and east-west, whilst the railway entered the town at an angle, therefore creating two triangles and giving Cobram its unique appearance.

The Murray River

The Murray River has many different characters as it takes its leisurely journey to the sea. A cruise along these steadily flowing upper reaches of the river will reveal wonderful sandy beaches at every turn. Thompsons Beach at Cobram is quite famous, claiming to be the largest inland beach in Australia and now the first inland beach to host professional beach volleyball on Easter Sunday every year.

Thompsons Beach is easily accessed by car, with a playground and picnic facilities, including free electric barbecues. Marvel at the magnificence of the 150 year old river red gums that surround the parking and upper beach area.

The flat terrain along the river is very conducive to bushwalking and cycling and a myriad of tracks can be found on either side and are well worth exploring. Once again, Thompsons Beach is an excellent starting point for either activity.

In the main street of Cobram, you can walk through one of the original log homes of the district. The log cabin was donated by the Beattie family to the Cobram Historical Society who, with the assistance of the Lions club, dismantled and then re-erected the building that is a testament to the pioneering ingenuity of our forebears. Keys for the log cabin can be borrowed from the Visitor Information Centre.

In 1945, the region became identified as one of the key soldier settlement areas. The federal government passed the soldier settlement act in 1946 and the first land was taken up in the Yarroweyah district in 1947. Many of the roads in the region reflect this history with names such as Labuan, Singapore, Kokoda, Blamey, Churchill and Larissa, just to name a few.

The area surrounding the twin towns is rich agricultural land. The orchards produce a wide variety of fruit including apricots, nectarines, peaches and pears, whilst the grazing properties are predominantly dairy, with cropping being popular in New South Wales.

Cobram Barooga today

Much of the soft stone fruit that is grown in the region, at the larger orchards, is exported. Also well known in the area is the olive oil from Cobram Estate. Although the estate is not open to the public, you can purchase a variety of their oil from the Visitor Information Centre.

Cobram is home to the Murray Goulburn Cooperative, which was formed in 1950 by fourteen local dairy farmers.

Camping along the river

Today, more than 3000 farmers are part of the co-operative, supplying in excess of two million litres of milk to the factory each day.

River camping around Cobram Barooga is extremely popular, with many families returning to the same location year after year. The section of the Murray River between Yarrawonga Mulwala and Cobram Barooga boasts over one hundred river beaches and a vast number of these beaches can be accessed by vehicle for camping.

Parks Victoria has information boards at road entrance points to the Murray River. It is highly recommended that you read this information, as it contains many wise guidelines for camping along the river. Facilities at these camp sites are limited or non-existent, so be prepared to take your rubbish away with you and leave the area clean and welcoming for others.

Fishing in the Murray River around Cobram Barooga has attracted generations of anglers in search of Murray cod, Murray cray, golden perch and more. Try to find a local who will point you in the right direction to their favorite fishing spot. As with fishing around the country, there are regulations and seasons that apply. Please check with relevant authorities.

Barooga — Cobram’s twin town

During the time of Federation, Barooga was one of the suggested sites for the new Australian Parliament. This however, did not eventuate. The town has remained a hub for a strong farming community. The Barooga botanic gardens are maintained by the local community and is a great place to while away a few hours, enjoying the beautiful layout. All the trees and shrubs are well identified and barbecue and shelter facilities are available.

The Murray River region is well known for its great variety of quality sporting facilities. Barooga Sports Club has hosted international and national cricket teams and a number of AFL training camps.

At Cobram Barooga Golf Club, you have access to two championship golf courses, whilst the Barooga Sports Bowls Club offers modern synthetic bowling greens. Flood-lit tennis courts are also available and an indoor heated swimming pool and very well equipped gymnasium are offered at Club Barooga.

Country charm and hospitality is what Cobram Barooga is all about. You will find fantastic local shopping in a thriving country community where an alfresco lunch is becoming quite the thing to do.

Cobram and Barooga offer a wide variety of accommodation options, including caravan parks, motels, hotels and resorts. Many are listed in the advertising section of this guide and we encourage you to support them with your business.
The golf facilities at Numurkah are excellent with the 18 hole grass greens, par 72 golf course. Bowling greens in two locations welcome visitors to play on the rinks while in Numurkah.

A major tennis tournament is held over the January long weekend and croquet is very popular from August through to May.

Just south of Numurkah at Wunghnu (pronounced one ewe), which claims to be the smallest sheep station in Australia, are two of the major attractions included in the Farm Gate Trail. These are Eddy’s Gourmet Buffalo (see some buffalo and try the range of the gourmet food) and Locheilan Cheese (visit the farm and watch the process of cheese making from the milking of the cows to making the cheese).

The Farm Gate Trail brochure has an excellent map to take you around all of Moira Shire to explore the countryside supporting large dairy farms, a number of vegetable growers, as well as vineyards. (Pick one up from one of the local Visitor Information Centres within our Shire.) The whole region is part of the food bowl of Australia and produce from Numurkah and surrounding district is exceptional.

Along with the attractions of the Broken Creek, is the accessibility to the mighty Murray River and visitors to the town have only a twenty minute drive to some of the best of the famous beaches along the Murray.

Peaceful tranquillity can be enjoyed when fishing, swimming or just relaxing at Ulupna Island and a further highlight is the opportunity to experience some native flora and fauna which abounds in the area.

Come to Numurkah. You will be made very welcome.
They often grow to thirty metres in height, with some reaching forty-five metres. More than eighty per cent of the forest is covered by these sturdy trees, whose trunks develop a gnarled, rock-like character. Old rotted limbs and hollows in the trees are nesting places for birds and animals. The varied environment supports 219 species of birds as well as numerous mammals, reptiles and amphibians.

The forest is on a major flight path for migratory birds, as well as being an internationally significant wetland breeding ground for waterbirds. Platypus can sometimes be spotted in quiet backwaters.

The narrowest section or “choke” of Murray River is located in this area, bounded on either side by the Moira and Barmah lakes. Hundreds of thousands of years ago the direction of the Murray River was altered in this area with the geological upheaval known as the Cadel tilt block. The fault line is quite obvious along the road as you head west from Barmah.

This is a wonderful area for camping, canoeing or enjoying a river cruise and probably the best times to visit are spring, summer and autumn. There are developed picnic and camping grounds with toilets, barbecues and picnic tables at Barmah Lakes and bush camping is permitted elsewhere.

The Dharnya Centre is also located in the Barmah Forest. (Temporary closure effected by the Department of Sustainability and Environment, May 2007.) It is an interpretive centre where you can experience the living culture and history of the Yorta Yorta indigenous community who have lived in the area for the last 40,000 years.

The rich environment along the Murray River supported large numbers of Aboriginal people over many thousands of years. Descendants of these people still live in the area and are involved in recovering their heritage and in managing the natural environment.

Nathalia

Ideally situated in the centre of the Goulburn Valley, only two and a half hours drive from Melbourne, Nathalia makes a great base to explore all that is on offer in the region. Country lifestyle and hospitality is wonderfully apparent here and the visitor is always welcomed with a friendly smile.

Nathalia was founded, on the banks of the Broken Creek, in 1875. The town still boasts some wonderful historic buildings from the turn of the nineteenth century, so a leisurely stroll along the main street is sure to delight those who enjoy seeking out our heritage.

The Broken Creek, on the eastern extremity of town, provides a wonderful resting spot for travellers to enjoy a break and rejuvenate under the shady trees that line the banks.

Motel and caravan accommodation is available in Nathalia.

Barmah and the Barmah Forest

The township of Barmah is the gateway to the forest and sits on the banks of the Murray River on a very picturesque river bend. The Barmah State Park is 7,900 ha in size and Barmah State Forest is 21,600 ha. Take the 60 km self-drive tour to sites of historical interest in the Barmah Forest, including the muster yard, punt paddock lagoon, Cornalla Landing and green engine. Allow two hours for the journey.

The Barmah Forest is a heritage listed region and home to the largest stand of river red gums in the world. The oldest river red gums in Barmah Forest are well over 500 years old.

You might be lucky enough to spot a kookaburra.
Explore the region and take in the breathtaking scenery whilst paddling a canoe or kayak. This is really a great way to get away from it all and see parts of the Murray River, Ovens River and Lake Mulwala that are rarely visited even by locals.

You can go it alone in your own craft or hire one and take an easy down river run, where you can be collected at a designated meeting point and brought back to town.

The region is famous for numerous stretches of pristine, sandy beaches. Many are easily accessed by vehicle and are ideal hideaways to while away some lazy hours with a good book or just to enjoy the rhythmic flow of the river on its grand journey.

Thompsons Beach at Cobram is well known and often plays host to events such as the River Beaches Festival at Easter and the biennial music extravaganza of the Peaches and Cream festival.

Sparkling Lake Mulwala and its foreshore is where it all happens, with over a hectare of reclaimed foreshore at Yarrawonga just by the bridge. Recently added is a skate park that is always busy and a great meeting place for young and old.

This is a great spot for families, with barbecues and play equipment available in close proximity. On occasions, the foreshore plays host to community markets with the Make it, Bake it, Sew it, Grow it, being a favourite just before Christmas. Many other events are held on the Yarrawonga foreshore, so a check of the events calendar on the website is always recommended.

The rivers, lakes and waterways of the region offer much deserved relaxation and revitalization.

If you are interested in exploring nature, this region is a destination that will keep you coming back again and again. Be it a leisurely stroll, a more energetic hike or a day trip on a bike, you can get in touch with nature in so many different ways. The magnificence of the river red gum is evident where ever you go along the Murray River and the wildlife that makes it home along and around the riverbanks are some of Australia’s icons.

Very close to the Yarrawonga township is Chinamans Island, a 2 km return walk from the Yarrawonga Yacht Club car park. Along this walk, seating is provided so you can sit and ponder the beauty of the surrounding wetlands. Birdlife is abundant in this area and signage at the entrance to the “island” will interpret some of the species you may encounter. Motor vehicles are prohibited from Chinamans Island, however cyclists and walkers are welcome.

Quinn Island Wetlands Sanctuary at Cobram is a 40 hectare island that is formed by a bend in the Murray River which has been cut off by a small anabranch called Scotts Creek. A bridge was built to the island in 1993 and can be accessed from the small parking area approximately 100 metres to the west of the Quinn Island access point.

Just after the rains, bird life abounds at Kinnards Wetlands in Numurkah. You can go bird-watching in the bird hides, or just take a leisurely stroll along one of the boardwalks. Kinnards Wetlands was opened to the public as a recreational area, having been a major engineering project designed to naturally enhance water quality through the Muckatah Depression.

There is a sheltered area at the entrance to Kinnairds, but there are no toilet facilities.

The Barmah-Millewa Forest is home to the world’s largest stand of river red gums. The Barmah Wetlands is a scattering of forested swamps, lagoons, grasslands, lakes and channels within the Barmah-Millewa Forest, and is a ‘wetlands of international importance’ under the RAMSAR Convention. The forest is also a great location for camping along the Murray River.

The Barmah Forest is home to more than 180 Aboriginal sacred sites, 260 species of birds and almost 900 species of wildlife, including the azure kingfisher and the endangered superb parrot.

Re-vegetation work of the superb parrot project has seen an increase in numbers in recent years.

They can be found foraging in woodlands adjoining the forest from November to January.

The cool summer oasis of Ulupna Island is home to a vast number of native wildlife. An early morning visit to this region will not disappoint, with sightings of kangaroos and koalas virtually guaranteed. Ulupna Island can be accessed from the Murray Valley Highway on the western side of the township of Strathmerton.

This is only a snapshot of the walks and tracks that are available all around the district. More detailed information on regional parks may be available at the Visitor Information Centres. While exploring all our natural attractions be sure to take only photographs and leave only footprints!
